

November 21, 2007

Ashley Zauflik had her leg amputated and has undergone numerous surgeries since the January crash outside Pennsbury High School. Sixteen other students also were injured.

The lawsuit in Bucks County Court names the brake and bus manufacturers as well as the school district and bus driver.

Zauflik's attorney, Tom Kline, says the same bus had a similar accident 13 years ago.

Kline says the suit is seeking damages for pain and suffering and for extensive medical bills.